ATTRACTIONS WITHIN THE CITY

Wat Phrathat Hariphunchai (วัดพระธาตุหริภุญชัย) This monastery is approximately 150 meters from the township area, built in the reign of King Athittayarat and has been repaired, renewed, and enlarged from time to time. Phrathat Hariphunchai Pagoda is currently 46 meters high having nine-tiered umbrella, made of gold weighing approximately 6,498.75 grams, placing on the top. The base is of square shape with 20 meters in length on each side. On every full moon day of the sixth lunar month, there is a celebration of this Wat Phrathat in term of the annual fair.

Nearby is located Hariphunchai National Museum (พิพิธภัณฑสถานแห่งชาติหริภุญชัย) which houses numerous Lanna antiques found in the region. The museum is opened to public everyday except Monday, Tuesday and religious holidays from 09.00 - 16.00 Admission fee is 10 baht.

Ku Kut Pagoda or Wat Chamma Thewi
(กูกุดหรือวัดจามเทวี) (Suwan Changkot Chedi
สุวรรณเจดีย์โกฏเจดีย์)

This monastery was built around A.D. 755 by the Khmer artisans. The pagoda structure is of the square Buddha Gaya characteristic as seen in India. Three standing Buddha images, in the attitudes of blessing are enshrined on each level of the pagoda base of each side totalling 15 images for one side of five levels, grand totalling 60 Buddha images around the pagoda. Relics of Queen Chamma Thewi, the first ruler of Hariphunchai, are housed inside the pagoda. The pagoda top was originally covered with gold but later, was broken and disappeared thus being called by the inhabitants Ku Kut or Pagoda without top.

Wat Phrayun (วัดพระยืน) A wat with standing Buddha, located in Tambon Wiangyong about 1 km., from the city. The attractions here include very old Buddha image and the engraved stones in Ramkhamhaeng period which tell how Phra Sumonthera (พระสุนทรเถระ) and King Kuna built this wat.

Wat Mahawan (วัดมหาวัน) Closed to the central of the city built by Queen Chammathewi more than 1300 years ago, is nationally famous for "Phra Rot Lamphoon" (พระรอดลำพูน) Buddha image amulets.

Wat Phra Khong Rusi (วัดพระคงฤๅษี) It is known as Wat Anantharam (วัดอนันทาราม) also well-known for Phra Khong, one of the most highly respected Buddha image amulets.

Khamo Hill (ดอยพระม้อ) Located in Tambon Makhuaachae in Amphoe Muang. It is only 200 metres in height and have about-an-acre flat land on the top, but it is fascinating that it has a really deep natural water well on its top which never dries up. This water is considered sacred, which has been used as sacred water in all coronations of The King of Thailand.

Ban Nong Chang Khun (บ้านหนองช้างดิน) In Tambon Nongchangkhun, Amphoe Muang, 11 km., from the city, grows longan trees and farms bees for honey.

Ku Chang (กูช้าง) Literally a place which keeps the remains of an elephant. Located 1 km., from the city. It is believed to be the cemetery of Queen Chammathewi's war elephant, which had green powerful trunks. The place itself is regarded sacred by people in Lamphun and elsewhere as well.

Queen Chammathewi Monument (อนุสาวรีย์เจ้าแม่ จามเทวี) The monument is located at Tambon Nai Muang in the area of Nong Dok Public Park in Lamphun Municipality. Queen Cham-mathewi was the first ruler of Hariphunchai or Lamphun.

Suthay-Va Ruesi Monument (อนุสาวรีย์สุเทวฤาษี) A monument, on top of Doi Ti, to commemorate the founder of Hariphunchai in 660 AD. Princess Chamthewi of Lawo became the first Monarchy ruler of Hariphunchai because of his invitation for her installation.

Lamphun Spa Garden (สวนสายน้ำแร่ลำพูน) Located in Ban Nonglom, Tambon Sribuaban, seven kilometers from Chiangmai-Lampang Superhighway. A wonderful place for tourists to enjoy Mountains, ricefields, local food, and spa tubbing.

ALONG THE ROUTE TO PA SANG (HIGHWAY NO. 106)

Erawan Cave (ถ้ำเอราวัณ) Located in Mu 6, Tambon Nakorn Chedi, thirty kilometers from Pasang-Li Road and another fifteen kilometers on Mae Ao-Huey Fai Road. Plentiful of beautiful stalagmites and stalagmites in-the cave.

Local products shops or cloth market at Pa Sang (ร้านขายสินค้าพื้นเมือง หรือ ตลาดผ้าที่อำเภอป่าซาง) Amphoe Pa Sang has long been famous for its lovely women. It is the site of northern Thailand's famed cloth market. The market offers batiks, clothes for boutiques, silk and native clothes, woodcarving, woven hats, and assorted souvenirs.

Tak Pha Buddha Footprints (พระพุทธบาทตากผ้า) The footprints are located on the top of a small hill in the area of Tambon Makok, Amphoe Pa Sang, 16 Kms. From the township area. The legend says that Lord Buddha left his footprints during his visit to that locality for Lawa tribal people to pay their homages to in lieu of he himself. He also dried his suffron robe on the cliff which one, at present, can see a mark like a piece of suffron robe being dried there thus originating the name of Tak Pha Buddha Footprints or "Drying Suffron Robe Buddha Footprints" in English.

Annual celebration takes place on the eighth day of waning moon of the sixth lunar month of every year when inhabitants of Lamphun and neighbouring towns flock to such annual fair.

AMPHOE BAN HONG

Karen Phatthana Huai La Village (หมู่บ้านกะเหรี่ยงห้วยหละ) Situated at Ban Huai La, Mu 3, Tambon Pa Phlu, the village is approximately 50 kms. from Lamphun township on Lamphun-Li Road. The village itself is 500 metres from the main road. It is a wholly Karen village which strictly adheres to its traditions. Interesting activities include a traditional way of weaving cloth by using the hips as a loom. The finished product has its own unique colors.

Pha Chao Ton Luang (พระเจ้าตนหลวง) An ancient Buddha of stucco work housed in Wat Phra Chao Ton Luang, Moo 1, Tambol Lao Ya-ow, Amphoe Ban Hong.

AMPHOE MAE THA

Doi Khuntan National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติดอยขุนตาล) Doi Khuntan is located on a mountain range bordering on both Lampang and Lamphun. There is a 1,362 meter long tunnel, regarded the longest one in Thailand, for railroad lying under the mountain. Other attractions are Peak 1 with its rest houses of the State Railway of Thailand, Peak 2 with the vast pine forest there, highly conducive for camping and the site of the house belonging to M.R. Kukrit Pramoj, Peak 3 which is lined by large forests and has houses of missionaries and Peak 4 which gives an great view of Lampang City. Moreover, Doi Khun Tan has many waterfalls worth visiting

One can go there by train from Bangkok to Khuntan railway station and then walks for 900 metres to the park office.

AMPHOE LI

Mae Ping National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติแม่อิง) The tourist attractions in the National Park are such as Kor Waterfall, Phloenta Cliff and Mae Ping Lake which covers a large region with 98 kms. in length.

One can go there by taking Highway No. 106 (Lamphun - Li) and about 3 kms. from Amphoe Li turn right for some 25 kms. on Highway No. 1087. Bungalows are available near the park office. Another place for accommodation is Tha Nam Kor raft, operated by the Royal Forestry Department, in the lake north of Bhumibol Dam.

Ban Phrabat Huai Tom (บ้านพระบาทห้วยต้ม) Located in tambon Na Sai, 10 kms. south of Amphoe Li. The attractions are Wat Phrabat Huai Tom, Karen hilltribe villages and a laterite source.
